HOMEWORK

At Newall Green High School, we place a high priority on homework. The new, more rigorous GCSEs mean that students need to learn the skills required to work independently. We also know that being an independent worker – someone who can get on with a task without needing lots of support – is also highly valued by employers.

Some students will need extra support with completing their homework. This can be for lots of different reasons: they might need someone to help with their reading or understanding a task; they might need to use the school's computers and internet access; they might need somewhere quiet to work.
